

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, I, a being a former early childhood educator, statewide facilitator of continued education for providers, and now a parent, mayor, and believer that we are stronger when we come together as a community, I would be amiss to not stop and acknowledge those that are investing into the lives of one of the largest group of citizens here in Lafayette, our children and

WHEREAS, the children of Lafayette are an important part of the community and

WHEREAS, those children are both part of the present and the future of Lafayette and

WHEREAS, those that invest in their education do so with the desire to instill a growth mindset and a love of learning, and

WHEREAS, those who invest in their education do so with a passion to nurture and inspire and

WHEREAS, those who serve our students create a better present and future for the children, families, and community of Lafayette at large and

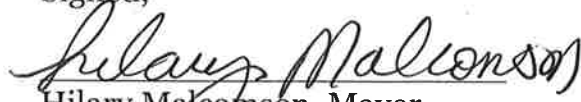

WHEREAS, those who do so do so in all different venues, be it public schools, private schools, trade schools, preschools, childcares, and the like and

WHEREAS, we call those who do so teachers

NOW, THEREFORE I, Hilary Malcomson, Mayor of The City of Lafayette, Oregon do hereby proclaim this the second week of May 2024 as Lafayette Teacher Appreciation Week In the city of Lafayette, Oregon, and call upon all whose life has been impacted by a teacher and/or whose children are currently being blessed by the sacrifices of teachers to hereby thank and acknowledge any one who works professionally or in a volunteer capacity in any educational setting and declare that Lafayette appreciates them as teachers on behalf of the children of Lafayette.

Given unto my hand this 9th day of May 2024

Signed,

Hilary Malcomson, Mayor
